Re: Second and Final Cease and Desist Demand
Purple Mountain Bottle Cap Magnets

Dear Ms. Bishop:

As of today, I have not received a written response to my earlier Cease and Desist Letter Request dated October 6, 2009. (See Oct. 6, 2009 letter and enclosures attached hereto). We were quite surprised to see your website offering six (6) pages of the same type of infringing items in direct and willful violation of intellectual property rights secured (and being secured) by M3Girl Designs, LLC. Instead of ceasing your infringing activities, you appear to be expanding them.

M3Girl Designs, the creator of Snap Caps®, the Original interchangeable magnetic bottlecap necklace and jewelry. Specifically, M3Girl Designs is the originator, developer and creator of the structures and functionality of interchangeable magnetic bottlecap necklaces – namely, chokers with magnets that securely fasten the bottlecaps to the necklaces and allow for the bottlecaps to be interchanged or swapped with other bottlecap designs. Your business has expanded its offering of infringing necklaces that use the same designs and structures created by M3Girl Designs. Specifically, your business appears to be offering exact duplicates of certain M3Girl Snap Caps® designs, through your website <http://www.purplemountainbaby.com/catalog.php?category=105>. (See attached).

Please be advised that we need written confirmation that Purple Mountain Baby has ceased and desisted from all illegal competitive activities identified in my earlier correspondence, and that you provide a full accounting for all unfair business actions since their inception. If we do not receive proof within five (5) business days, we will take the appropriate legal action. If you have any questions or comments, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Very truly yours,
